Director's Message

Peter Drucker in his famous article titled 'The Manager of Tomorrow' wrote, "One needs experience to see the business in society, to assess the impact of the environment on the business and to decide what management's public responsibilities are." As alumni your juniors are looking forward to learn from your experiences as well. May the sharing and learning continue beyond structured program like that of Melange so that together we build a better tomorrow. Good luck.

- Dr Subhajit Bhattacharyya
